

Dear Parent/Guardian(s),

The middle school is sending home progress reports, via e-mail, on Fridays. This will give you the weekend, and maybe more time, to have a conversation with your student about his/her grades. The middle school teachers have adopted common policies on the following: grading scale, homework, and test corrections.

*There is one grading scale that is used in the middle school.

*Your student will have until the end of the unit/chapter to turn in late work. After the unit or chapter is over, late work will not be accepted.

*Your student will have an opportunity to make test corrections to improve his/her score.

Knowing these common practices each teacher is using will help guide conversations with your student on what he/she needs to do.
